design focus

» as a designer, my job is to help clients with their visual needs in communicating a message, from identity branding through tangible media and signage to web design and other digital interactivity.

» as an artist, i love to play with different ways of combining traditional elements with digital tools to create images and illustrations with depth and energy.

teaching focus

» digital technology and tools help student designers organize ideas, explore options, communicate narratives and present work in new ways that are continually being created in contemporary culture.

» my job as a design teacher is to help every student find their personal artistic voice so they can explore their own path through the creative process to create meaningful art.
